

Follow Your Heartsong to Happiness

A Women's Bed & Breakfast Retreat in Santa Barbara, California

October 15-18, 2009 ♡ November 12-15, 2009

Every woman has a unique heartsong.

It's the joyful, exuberant call of your inner child – the medley of distinctive gifts, talents and passions only you possess.

Have life events stifled your precious song?

Perhaps you are experiencing:

- ❖ A Major Life Transition
- ❖ Career Uncertainty
- ❖ Empty Nest
- ❖ Midlife Crisis or Turmoil
- ❖ Divorce or Relationship Issues

And you are longing for more:

- ❖ Inner Peace
- ❖ Joy & Passion
- ❖ Personal Well Being
- ❖ Meaning & Purpose

Living out of sync with your innermost values and desires, succumbing to fears and limiting beliefs, and denying expression of your true self, creates frustration, disappointment, and a sense that something vital is missing.

Somewhere around midlife, the call is just too strong to ignore. You feel stressed out, burned out, and your song feels more like the blues.

Take time out to find yourself again.

Some deep soul searching with the guidance of a professional Life Coach and the support of other women will help you gain clarity about what you need in your life to be truly happy. You'll reconnect with the parts of yourself that have been lost or put on the back burner, as you have endeavored to give your best to everyone and everything around you – your career, your family, your community– but have allowed your own needs to languish.

If you are you a woman who struggles with:

- ❖ Feeling chronic stress or burnout
- ❖ Difficulty getting your needs met
- ❖ Self-sabotaging behavior
- ❖ Being hard on yourself
- ❖ Never feeling good enough
- ❖ Worrying about what other people think
- ❖ Not being able to relax and have fun
- ❖ Longing for balance and a better quality of life

It's time to reclaim your heartsong, step into your power, and reawaken your joy and passion for life!
